BIG FIGHT DEVELOPS IN FARM CONFERENCE ON CANAL PROJECT

ALSO ON HENRY FORD'S MUSCLE SHOALS PROJECT, AND ON THE FARM BLOC

EASTERN INTERESTS ARE FIGHTING THE CANAL—FARM BUREAUS SUPPORT BOTH

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 25—Powerful forces were at work today to prevent the agricultural conference from going on record in favor of Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals offer, the St. Lawrence river canalization project, and the farm bloc.

Fertilizing and other big interests are opposing Ford; New York, New Jersey, New England and other Atlantic coast states are fighting the St. Lawrence project, and administration forces are laboring against the farm bloc.

Leaders in the conference are considering the incorporating and endorsement of these three issues in the program for agricultural relief. The American Farm Bureau Federation is leading the fight in favor of the Muscle Shoals and the St. Lawrence project, and in this it has the support of the majority of farm interests at the conference.

The farm representatives stand as a unit in favor of the farm projects. Of these three issues the bitterest battle is on the canalization project. This is being fought out in the water transportation committee of which J. N. Howard, as president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is chairman. Congressman Peter G. Peneyck is a member. Peneyck is leading the opposition to the St. Lawrence project. It is understood that some of the eastern bureaus of the farm bloc are supporting him and threatening to break away if the committee endorses the project. Howard has announced himself whole heartedly in favor of the project for the same reason that he supports the Muscle Shoals—the benefit in store for the vast number of farmers. Resistance from the east is due to a fear that a huge slash of the ocean going business will be lost to the interior. Howard's organization, the National Farmers Unit and other powerful farm organizations are for the Ford Muscle Shoals project because they believe he is the only one who has shown a sincere desire to open up power possibilities of the Tennessee river and the vast wealth locked up in the Tennessee mountains. "Operation of the nitrate plant providing cheap fertilizer would merely be the first step in the regeneration of the south," said Howard.

Urges Co-operative Terminals

J. M. Anderson, president of the Equity Co-operative Exchange, of St. Paul, pressed co-operative terminals for stock and grain, but suggested government and state supervision. He said "self selling" should be stopped insofar as it is legally possible.

Pending readjustment in this country, Anderson said the government should extend such credits to Europe as would operate to take up the surplus stock in issue.

Rump Conference Considered

Insurgents among the delegates called a meeting this afternoon to determine whether the rump conference should be called. The "progressives" feel that they have not been given an opportunity to express their views and called attention to the alleged steam roller tactics.

Hail to the Chief.

"At one moment," an afternoon visitor to the lounge of a London hotel writes, "I counted five women powdering their noses; three were attending to the intricacies of manicure; another was tactfully brushing her cheek with rouge, while the majority were puffing away at cigarettes of various shapes and sizes." Did he expect them to be singing a chorus of welcome as he made his entrance, or what?—Westminster Gazette.

Stop the Ache.

Zone-therapy is a system of relieving pain by applying pressure to the nerves—like shutting off the water or gas by turning a valve. For instance, for toothache, grasp the gums over the aching tooth, between thumb and forefinger. Press tightly! That is worth remembering. When you have toothache, everything else in the world fades into unimportance.

Testing Child's Musical Ability.

Musical ability in a child can be well judged by testing five faculties: The sense of pitch, which is the ability to discriminate between higher and lower tones; the sense of time or rhythm; the sense of consonance, which is the ability to tell what is more pleasing and what is less pleasing; the sense of intensity; and musical memory, or the ability to remember a number of tones from hearing them once. Those qualifications are probably in large measure inherited, for very young children sometimes have them.—Youth's Companion.

END OF ARMS PARLEY IS NOW DEFINITELY THOUGHT IN SIGHT

THE SHANTUNG QUESTION, MOST IMPORTANT PROBLEM, IS ON VERGE OF SETTLEMENT

ARMS LIMITATION AND OTHER QUESTIONS ONLY NEED FORMAL ENDORSEMENT

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 25—The Shantung question is almost on the verge of settlement, it was learned authoritatively today. Assurances that this vital problem will be settled soon had been received in the most authoritative American quarters.

The settlement of Shantung, one of the most serious questions of the far east, is considered of vast importance to the Washington conference. It was this question which largely contributed to the defeat of the Versailles treaty in the American senate, and many have believed that the senate would not accept the treaties growing out of the present conference if Shantung is not settled in Washington now.

Shantung is today the sole unsolved major problem of the conference, and the end of the conference for the first time is definitely in sight. The best guess now is the latter part of next week.

The naval treaty lacks only the finishing touches and inclusion of Article XIX—the Pacific fortifications clause.

Of this a compromise has been reached, as stated yesterday by the United Press. The Bonin islands will be regarded as a part of the Japanese homeland—a concession to Japanese pride—but in turn Japan will agree that they not be fortified. Tokio, however, must O. K. this final arrangement, making a delay of a few days.

The four-power treaty scope will be defined by exchange of notes, as already stated, so that its operation will exclude the mainland of Japan.

Drafting of the nine-power treaty with China is expected to require only a short time as this work will mainly be to insert the gist of the Root and other resolutions already definitely approved.

ESTABLISH FARM COLONY TO SOLVE PROBLEMS OF LIFE

(By United Press)

Boston, Jan. 25—Lillian Conrad, for love of whom Charles Garland, young millionaire philosopher is alleged to have given up his wife and baby, today is in the home of the "Tide Over League" here.

Garland searched Boston for the girl, formerly his mother's secretary. Miss Doris Benson, at Amherst, Mass., told of some of Garland's plans for founding a colony on April farm, a stony piece of land near North Carver, Mass.

Garland, who has already distinguished himself by refusing and then accepting an inheritance of $1,000,000, is not a follower of Tolstoi, Miss Benson said. Garland's ideas are just his own, Miss Benson said. The girl, who is just 21, is a student at Massachusetts agricultural college, where she is preparing to become one of Garland's farm colonists. Miss Conrad also will be one of the colonists, Miss Benson said she believed.

The colonists are to work the farm and help each other solve the problems of life. The experiment may start in the spring. So far as she is concerned, Miss Benson said, there is nothing romantic about the affair.

NEGRO MAJOR SHOT COLORED PRIVATE WHO 'TALKED BACK'

ACCORDING TO TESTIMONY BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE—OTHER CRUELTIES

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 25 — Additional charges of American soldiers being wrongfully shot and beaten in the A. E. F. were laid before the senate investigating committee as hearings on the Watson charges were resumed today.

The direct charge that Major Joe Phillips, negro, of Orange, N. J., shot down a colored private, William Patterson, who "talked back" to him, was made by Henry Gentry, colored. Major Phillips ordered Patterson to go on kitchen police duty, the witness said, but Patterson protested saying he had been at kitchen work for three days and was sick. He begged for permission to go on the sick report. "When Patterson finally started for the kitchen the major followed him and shot him through the side. I was five feet away and I helped carry him out. He was taken to the hospital and never came back."

"Sentries told startling stories of soldiers prisons, prisoners being beaten by the guards who stripped them, tied their hands above their heads and beat them into insensibility with knotted ropes and cords. They were taken to the hospital and some of them we never saw again. I don't know whether they died or not."

ADVICE WELL WORTH TAKING

No Doubt Driver of Car Realized Afterward That His Sarcasm Really Was Wasted.

A big passenger car was a victim of the sleet in Central avenue. The driver tried valiantly to keep it in the middle of the street, but one hind wheel slipped over a little, the driver tried to stop the "boat," the rear wheel slid along the car track—well, auto drivers know the rest.

When the car stopped sliding its two rear wheels rested against the curb and its two front ones were on the car track. Then ensued much speeding up of the engine and much whizzing of rear wheels, but no forward movement.

"What's the matter; trying to get away from the curb?" a bystander asked.

"Oh, no, I'm polishing the pavement so the kids can have some fun!" sarcastically exclaimed the driver of the car.

"Well, if you'll just cut that engine down and slip her out of high into low, I'll give you a little shove and you'll walk right away from the curb," the interloper said.

The advice was followed, the wheels ceased their mad whirl and the car, under the gentle urge of the bystander, moved away.—Indianapolis News.

No Place for Tobacco Fiends.

As a precaution against forest fires, smoking has been entirely prohibited in any part of the Olympic national forest in Washington. The area covered by the "no smoking" order mounts to about 540,000 acres. The period of this prohibition is to be determined by the district forester at Portland, Oregon. The urgent reason for this action is due to the fact that the area was largely swept by a cyclone during the last winter and the ground is covered with broken trees and branches of trees so that if a fire were to get any headway at all, it would be difficult to check it.

EFFORT BEING MADE TO CHOOSE NEW POPE FROM OUTSIDE ITALY

PROMINENT PAPER OF ROME SAYS SUCH EFFORT IS BEING MADE —POSSIBLY A GERMAN

FUNERAL OF BENEDICT OFFICIALLY SET FOR 3:30 P. M. TOMORROW, JAN 26

(By United Press.)

Rome, Jan. 25—Efforts to choose a pope from outside the ranks of the Italian cardinals have been put under way, a formal campaign, the Popolo Romano stated today.

The paper brings forward the possibilities that a German may be chosen to succeed the late Benedict XV.

The Popol Romano articles aroused particular interest because the same paper had previously denied all reports that any campaign to choose other than an Italian for the Vatican were being made.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state under Pope Pius X is directing the campaign to break the tradition of choosing an Italian. Merry Del Val is a Spaniard and is one of the candidates for the papacy. The cardinal is being assisted, the paper states, by the Jesuit order which kept in the back ground during Benedict's pontifical, because of the latter's conciliatory policy. The Jesuit General Litochowsky, it is stated, is canvassing all cardinals as they arrive in Rome for the late pope's funeral, and later for the meeting of the sacred college to select a new pope. This has been set for February 2.

The sacred college set the time for the pope's funeral tomorrow at 3:30 p. m., it was officially announced.

From Messenger to General.

General Pellegrin, who has just been appointed to the command of the thirteenth division of French infantry, with headquarters at Langres, is a living proof of the possibility of rising by unaided effort, which Napoleon crystallized into the saying that every French soldier carried a marshal's baton in his haversack.

General Pellegrin, whose parents were in very poor circumstances, began life as a telegraph messenger at Marseilles. He scraped and saved so as to be able to buy books, which he studied at night after his day's work for the postoffice was finished. He took his baccalaureate, got into the military college at Saint-Cyr, obtained his commission with flying colors and passed the Ecole de Guerre, or staff college. He took part in the operations in Morocco in 1907, was badly wounded at the battle of the Marne, and afterwards returned to Morocco, where he became one of Marshal Lyautey's most valued assistants.

"Gringo."

The word "gringo," Mexican nickname for an American, is in Spanish dictionaries of many years ago. The word was first brought into the Spanish language from griego and the use of the French phrase "to speak in Greek," which was generally applied to persons who spoke in a tongue unintelligible to them. It is not, as has been stated, of Mexican war origin.—Dearborn Independent.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES OF TODAY

The personal property tax lists are being published by the Brainerd Dispatch company. January was devoted to paying one's auto tax after last year's receipt had ben unearthed. After that was out of the way, the average business man had his income tax to contemplate. These delightful meditations will then give away to musings on the real estate tax. If one has any property to tax; these various philosophic considerations will well fill one's spare time.

George H. Gardner of Brainerd has sounded a new note on taxation and that is that lots of people with big incomes don't pay state or community much in the way of taxes if they own no real or personal property amounting to anything. It seems the man or woman with an income not made public and who also does not even jam up the moneys and credits to any appreciable extent is living very cheaply, while the man or woman burdened with real or personal property which sticks up in clear sight like a sore thumb is never missed by the assessor. George's idea is an income tax to reach these people who have hitherto gone almost scot free in the way of taxes. He broached the subject at the tax conference held in the Cities.

GAY WITH COLORS

Picturesque Scene on Old East Indian Highway.

Customs and Costumes of the Past and Present Mingled in Kaleidoscopic Procession.

The great highway which runs from the Khyber pass in the far northwest of India to Calcutta in the Far East is a kaleidoscope of the colors and the customs of the past and present, writes Temple Manning in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. On this great road are to be seen ox teams, caravans and camels from Afghanistan dodging huge, snorting motor trucks and light American and European cars. At a glance one might think it all a circus en route, because even the elephants are there.

Parallel to this road is a railway. One of the most interesting places along the line is Lahore, the capital of Punjab. It is called "The City of the Thirteen Gates." The railway station in Lahore resembles a fort, and so picturesque is it that one can almost imagine it being besieged by ancient oriental warriors.

On leaving the station one is struck by the spirit of the place. It is still the East, even if there are sandwich men advertising American moving pictures.

The bustling city, with its crowded bazaars and towering mosques, is very beautiful. It is surrounded by lovely gardens, which form a green circle around the city, the only break being the dusty section near the Ravi river.

In Lahore is the beautiful palace of mirrors, where thousands of tiny mirrors, set in plaster, form the decorations of the walls and ceiling. Here a single candle will illuminate the interior with myriads of glistening lights like a many-sided diamond turned inside out.

The streets are crowded with the gayly-dressed inhabitants. As in most countries, the color is given by the women's dress. The average woman of Lahore wears a white waist resembling a Russian blouse, spotless white trousers of the baggy Turkish variety, and last but not least, a waistcoat like a man's with checks—great big checks.

The belles of Lahore weight down their hands with rings, and also their noses. Sometimes the nose ring is worn jauntily in one nostril, in the same manner that a hat is put on a rakish angle. Their arms are heavy with bracelets, and invariably nowadays each girl's arm is adorned with an American wrist watch. The wrist watches are an amusing touch, and dispel the oriental effect in the mind of the traveler who expects to see only what he has read of in old books.

Some of our girls who think they are very devilish and advanced because they roll down their stockings or even wear socks, are behind the times compared with their sisters of Lahore. For in Lahore the men wear stockings, and for centuries the girls have worn socks.

The Golden Goose.

An American says he is "skinned" and Americans understand him. The French have a corresponding word for robbing somebody outside the law, and this word is "estampage," and the French are becoming wise to the fact that France may be overdoing this taking of irregular toll from tourists and visitors. Except for one or two special resorts, touring in France has fallen off this year, and those who are thinking about this enormous source of income to the country are pointing out the evil of the incapacity of some and the rapacity of others. The word "estampage," by the way, is a dictionary word for punching holes in metal, and is commonly understood in France for overcharging.

Britain Wants Own Beet Sugar.

Before the great war Great Britain paid Germany, even upon a low computation, $35,000,000 a year for beet sugar. Great Britain now appears determined not to do it in the future, as there has been recently opened at Newark-on-Trent a beet-sugar factory which opens a new chapter in British farming annals.

The factory, covering some forty acres in all, is the result of co-operation between the government and the Sugar Beet Growers' society and Home-Grown Sugar, Limited, and is to be the first of five factories, which in turn may be precursors of the 400 that would be necessary to make England quite self-supporting.

The Necessary Husband.

"But she sued him for divorce and got it."

"I know."

"And the court gave her the custody of the children."

ELDERLY LADIES GUESTS

Mrs. F. A. Larrabee, Age 91, One of Group Entertained at Church Party in Superior

(Superior Telegram)

"Tirty-five elderly ladies were entertained at a party given Thursday afternoon in the church parlors by the members of the Laura Bauton Bible class of the Hamomnd Avenue Presbyterian church in their honor. the class arranged the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Carl Wilson led the guests and members in singing a number of old, familiar songs. Mrs. Peter Hauton sang several songs and a victrola gave forth the song, "Make Somebody Happy Today" by Billy Sunday's music director, Homer Rodeehaver. Mrs. T. L. McIntosh presided at the organ. Rev. Leslie A. Bechtel gave a short talk on "The Value of Old Age".

"A pleasing feature of the program was the joining of hands of the guests just before tea was served while they sang, "We'll Take a Cup O' Kindness Yet for Auld Lang Syne." The oldest lady present, Mrs. F. A. Larrabee, who is 91 years of age, joined in this".

She is the mother of W. T. Larrabee of Brainerd, is still in possession of all her faculties and regularly visits Brainerd.

I had such severe pains when I bent it was about all I could do to straighten again. There was a dull ache in my kidneys that annoyed me a great deal and I was surely feeling pretty mean. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me, making me feel like a different person. I use Doan's occasionally and thy keep me in good health."

CHARLES GRAVEL SR. HAS PASSED AWAY

Residents of Morrison, Todd and Crow Wing Counties Acquainted With Pioneer of Onamia

FUNERAL AT ONAMIA TUESDAY

At One Time With Brainerd As His Headquarters he Built Culverts and Bridges for N. P.

Residents of Morrison, Todd, Crow Wing and Mille Lacs counties, who were acquainted with him in a business or social way, mourn the death of Charles Gravel, Sr., a pioneer who died at his home in Onamia. The funeral was held from the Catholic church at Onamia on Tuesday morning.

Death resulted from a paralytic stroke nearly two weeks ago. He was 78 years old. He is survived by a widow, seven children and 21 grandchildren; three brothers and two sisters.

Charles Gravel, Sr., was educated in the public schools of Canada and lived in the Dominion of Canada until 21 years old, having learned the carpenter trade under the direction of his father, who taught the trade to all his seven sons. "When Mr. Gravel was 21 years old he removed to Fond du Lac, Wis., where he worked as a carpenter for the government for two years at Leech Lake, Minn., after which, in partnership with a Mr. Lee, father of the Hon. W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, Minn., he built a saw mill at Red Lake, Minn. He then returned to Little Falls and shortly afterwards to Long Prairie, Minn., where he purchased 160 acres of land. After building a house and otherwise improving the land, he sold his farm, returned to Little Falls and operated a drug store, a general mercantile store and built houses under contract until 1870.

In 1870 Mr. Gravel, Sr., established himself at Brainerd, Minn., where he took contracts for building culverts and bridges for the Northern Pacific railroad. During the next two years he was engaged in building culverts and bridges from Brainerd to Fargo, N. D., with Brainerd his headquarters. He then supplied the Northern Pacific railroad with ties and timber under a contract lasting two years. Upon leaving Brainerd he removed to Little Falls where he received a contract for carrying mail between St. Cloud and Brainerd, Minn., operating a stage line until the Northern Pacific railroad was comyleted, in 1876. In partnership with F. X. Goulet, Mr. Gravel then constructed a flour mill at Gravelville, a town named for him. In this mill the old stone process of milling was employed. Later Mr. Gravel was engaged in the lumber business, building a saw mill, which he operated for eight or 10 years. In 1883 he substituted the modern roller system in his flour mill and provided for a mill with 100 barrels capacity. This mill was operated until the spring of 1905, when he sold out and completed the construction of a mill at Pierz, beginning operation on October 12, 1905, with a capacity of 125 barrels. Charles E. Gravel, a son, was taken into the business as manager and partner.

Several years ago Mr. Gravel removed from Little Falls to Onamia, Minn., and in partnership with C. B. Buchman and a man by the name of McGGee, engaged in the lumber and mercantile business. Later the partnership was changed to Gravel and Robinson, but the company was operated as the Onamia Lumber and Mercantile company. In 1913 Mr. Gravel purchased the interest of Mr. Robinson in the business, and took into the business with him his two sons, F. H. and E. A. Gravel, who now operate it.

MASQUERADE PARTY

To Be Given Friday Evening by the Business & Professional Women's Club on Friday Evening

The masquerade party to be given by the Business and Professional Women's club on Friday evening is being looked forward to with much interest, and all the members are on tiptoe with expectation. The party is for only the members of the club, but dress suits and Tuxedos will grace the floor, just the same. Those who wish to dance will be well provided with partners in manly attire, and a prize will be given to the "couple" wearing the cleverest costumes.

A prize wil also be given for the most attractive individual costume, and a prize for the funniest costume worn. Races, including a relay race, will be run, and prizes will be awarded the winners. Dancing will be a feature of the evening, also cards and games, so all may find amusement to their liking. Refreshments will be served, the January entertainment committee being in charge. Miss Lenore Venne is chairman, assisted by fourteen other members.

The masquerade will be held in Emerson hall (Koop's hall) over the Brainerd State bank, and it is expected all will come in costume. A fine of twenty-five cents will be imposed on those who do not come in fancy (or not so fancy) dress. It is hoped that a goodly number of the members will attend, as it provides a splendid opportunity for them to become really well acquainted. All formality will be cast aside, identities will be for the time being lost, and nothing but heart warming fellowship will reign.

Church Social

There will be a social at the First Congregational church basement on Thursday evening, January 26th at 8 o'clock. If you enjoy a good time, come. A cafeteria lunch will be served.

St. Francis Guild

St. Francis Guild will meet Thursday afternoon at the K. C. hall instead of the church basement. The hostesses are Mrs. J. Graham, Hill, J. Hurley, H. Hurley, R. Jaeger, F. Jaeger, T. Johnson and Geo. Johnson. Everybody welcome.

PILLAGER

Teachers of Independent District No. 1, Cass county, will meet at the Pillager school house for an all day session on Saturday, February 4th. Each speaker has been put on a time limit.

Floyd A. Hargrave and Miss Rachel Hayes were married at the parsonage of the Methodist church at Motley by Rev. Workman.

Fred Timmerhoff was at Pequot on business.

An American Legion Ladies Auxiliary is being formed.

Henry Lohf last week received a notice from a postoffice inspector in St. Paul that he was charged with running into a mail truck with his auto, breaking the spindle on it, and driving away without stopping, and was indebted to Uncle Sam in the amount of $6.00 damages. The cop who witnessed the accident evidently got the wrong car number as Mr. Lohf has never been in St. Paul.

VAUDEVILLE WITH THE "ONCE OVER"

New Park Theatre Changes Its Former Circuit and Will Put on Twin City Acts

VIEWED BEFORE SENT HERE

New System Starts Friday this Week and Better Offerings are Anticipated at House

Vaudeville which has been given the "once over" by New Park theatre representatives before being shown in Brainerd will be the new rule at this amusement house, commencing Friday, January 27, as announced by Clyde E. Parker and Manager A. W. Force.

The old circuit system goes into the discard. The cream of the Twin City offerings, with but a short jump from St. Paul or Minneapolis to Brainerd and return, will be the rule and will tend to produce better acts.

Friday night's first bill is awaited with interest and the New Park will undoubtedly draw large houses for each show.

GRAHAM MARR

Eminent Raritone in Recital at New Park Theatre on Sunday Afternoon, January 29

Graham Marr, eminent baritone, will appear in recital under Brainerd Musical club auspices on Sunday afternoon, January 29, at the New Park theatre.

As a singer of oratorio he has no peer. When the Century Opera Company was in Chicago he was engaged by Maestro Companini for the Chicago Opera Company. Mr. Marr was given the great honor while with the Chicago Opera Company to sing in 'Lamore dei tre Re" at their first and subsequent performances of that very important opera. Mr. Marr has to his credit about thirty first roles in various languages that he has sung with great success throughout the world.

He made two successful tours with the Bistin Opera Company covering 60,000 miles. Further laurels have been added to Mr. Marr's successes with the Ravinia Opera Company last season starring with Muzio, Garrisin, Harrold, Rithier, Hackett, etc.

In commenting on his singing, the Detroit Journal says: "Graham Marr sang the prologue as no one, with the possible exception of Amato has done in Detroit within recent memory in opera or concert. It was better than Titta Ruffo's because the shadings were richer and more varied. His Tonio was a masterful performance and quite on a par with Zenatellos' Canio, which was everything his admirers could expect of him".

The Denver Express says: "Graham Marr has a voice of beautiful ringing tone".

The New Orleans American says: "Marr is not only an adequate singer, but a thorough artist".

"Bulldozing."

The bull-whack, also called bull-whip, is a terrible whip, with a short handle, and a long heavy lash. In Texas and Louisiana it is used by drovers to intimidate refractory cattle. It is said that the use of this weapon gave rise to the term "bulldozer." The term first found its way into print just after the Civil war, when it came to mean intimidation for political purposes by violence or threats of violence. Since that time the word has acquired a wider signficance and may be used with reference to intimidation of any kind.

Persevering.

If energy and perseverance has anything to do with success, we believe Miss Mickie will some day be a great singer. She sings both with and without anyone listening to her, and when accompanied by other voices, she sings fast and gets through, then comes back and helps others over the rough places.—Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

Choir Meeting

The First Baptist church choir will meet for rehearsal at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Mahlum, Juniper street tonight.

First Baptist Brotherhood

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

The joint Commission of Agricultural Inquiry, in its report to the House says the financial difficulties of the farmer have been due partly to credit restrictions and limitations of the last eighteen months, and partly to the fact that the banking machinery of the country is not adequately adapted to his requirements. The Federal Reserve Board is sharply critized for the course it pursued in 1919, 1920, and 1921, and the Commission declares the Board should have restricted credit expansion, inflation and speculation by increases in discount rates early in 1919 instead of delaying such action for nearly a year. When the Federal Reserve Board and reserve banks finally adopted this policy, the Commission says, loans and discounts, currency and prices, had reached such a point that deflation was a process accompanied by perpendicular and very material declines in prices, which were the cause of great losses and hardship upon banks, communities and individuals alike.

Legislation is recommended by the Commission to fill the gap between the short and long time credit furnished the farmer under the present banking machinery. Amendments to the Federal farm loan act and the Federal reserve act are suggested with a view to providing credit for agriculture for periods of six months to three years. Preliminary recommendations along this line have already received the approval of the Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve system.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Two plans are now being considered at Washington for reorganizing the educational function of the nation. One plan provides for the creation of a department of education, under a secretary of education, who shall be a member of the President's cabinet, the department to administer all educational activities of the Government, not intimately and directly related to some other department, provisions for which are contained in the Towner-Sterling bill. The other plan calls for the creation of a department of public welfare, under a secretary, who shall be a member of the President's cabinet, but whose department would include education as a subdivision, along with veteran relief, health, social and other more or less related subjects.

The first mentioned plan has been endorsed by the General Federation of Womn's clubs, and the department of applied education of this organization is making a strong effort to secure the passage of the Towner-Sterling bill, formerly known as the Smith-Towner bill. Clubwomen in every state are writing the members of the Congressional Committee on Reorganization of the Executive Department, urging the creation of a separate department of education.

BETTER FARM MARKETS

Frank E. Balmer, state county agent leader, says that through the organization of 114 co-operative marketing associations they helped to form and which resulted in a saving of nearly $150,000, Minnesota county agricultural agents actively promoted the development of better farm markets, notwithstanding the occasional charge that they are giving exclusive attention to production problems.

The work of he county agricultural agents in Minnesota has undoubtedly had a very stimulating effect in the development of the great agricultural resources of the state. The result can be seen in the organization of active, working farm clubs in practically every section of the state.

EDITORS AT SAUK CENTRE

Every editor in the northern half of the state who can possibly break away from his office duties for a few hours will attend the annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial Association at Sauk Centre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. A splendid program has been arranged, and the boys of the Fourth Estate will be most hospitably entertained by the good folks of Sauk Centre. All the many good fellows in the profession will of course be on deck, including of course the original and only "Doc" Rutledge, secretary of the association, whom everybody knows and loves. Those who are unable to attend are going to be sorry.

SENATOR KELLOGG'S RE-ELECTION

The Dispatch has no interest in the election of a United States Senator further than that of every citizen who believes implicitly in good government. Senator Kellogg has made an excellent record during his first term, and already has attained a high standing and great influence in the Senate. There is no reason why he should be displaced for a new and inexperienced man, and he is certainly entitled to re-election as a deserved endorsement of public service well performed. The logic of the political situation clearly calls for his return to the Senate.

Henry Ford is reported to have recently told a friend that seventeen years ago he and his wife walked the streets trying to find a Thanksgiving turkey that was cheap enough for them to buy, and now he has $121,000,000. And the Syracuse Herald remarks that this "proves that Henry did not buy a turkey that day or since."

The Association of County Attorneys of Minnesota, in annual session in St. Paul last Saturday, by a unanimous vote endorsed the plan of a state constabulary. The organization went on record as approving to the full the principles of state police protection as strongly urged by Gov. Preus.

If the Washington Conference succeeds in limiting the submarine peril, the Anaconda Herald suggests that it might tackle the automobile.

AMUSEMENTS

"Beach of Dreams"

"The Beach of Dreams," a new Haworth production released by Robertson-Cole, in which Edith Storey is featured with an all-star cast, will open at the New Park theatre tonigat for a run of two days.

Here is one of the best dramas ever projected on the silver sheet. Taken from the novel of the same name by H. De Vere Stacpoole, the screen adaptation is even more thrilling than the story itself because of the smashing manner in which the camera puts the vital scenes and situations before the eye.

There are any number of exciting scenes, including a collision at sea between a four-masted whaler and the yacht of a European prince. In order to obtain a locale to conform as nearly as possible with descriptions in Mr. Stacpoole's book, the company spent three weeks exploring the Pacific coast from a point fifty miles north of Santa Barbara, California, as far southward as Mexico. The ideal spot was located near the California-Mexican border line.

For the shipwreck scenes, which are second to none ever registered by a moving picture camera, it was necessary for the Haworth Company to purchase outright an elaborately furnished yacht and a great four-masted whaler. The expense was great, but the results obtained justified the expenditure. When the camera stopped grinding, both yacht and whaler were total losses.

Briefly, the interesting story of "The Beach of Dreams" tells of Mlle. Cleo De Bromsart (Edith Storey), a wealthy French woman, who is bored by the social parasites who surround her, and has her own ideas on marriage. She wishes to spend a short while away from Paris and in the great outdoors. She accepts an invitation from Prince Selm to join a yachting party he is giving. Before she leaves, Maurice Chenet, wealthy and indolent, asks her to marry. She promises her answer upon her return.

The yacht is in collision with a big whaler in Antartic waters and founders. Mlle. De Bromsart is rescued by two sailors. They manage to make the shore, where, after a few days, one of the sailors is lost in quicksand. The other she is forced to kill when he makes an attack upon her. She is dying in one of the cliff caves when Jack Raft, who was one of the crew of the whaler and who managed to swim ashore, finds her. He nurses her and she at last finds a man whom she respects.

Cleo and Raft finally discover a band of seal poachers on the opposite side of the island and, after a battle Raft overcomes the officers of the poaching vessel and takes command. They set sail for the steamship lanes and are finally rescued.

"Dream Street"

In "Dream Street," the unusual Griffith picture, showing at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Thursday, appears the only living person who was on the stage of the Ford Theater in Washington, the night Abraham Lincoln was shot by Wilkes Booth.

He is W. J. Ferguson, playing the part of the father of the fascinating little dancing girl, Gypsy Fair. Now grey, with his face fed to wrinkles by the many years, Mr. Ferguson finds life without frowns in working in the theatres of New York, with an excursion into pictures now and then at the request of David Wark Griffith, the great producer.

All the details of the tragic night still remain graphically in his memory. One thing he would like to impress upon history: that Booth did not shout "Sic Semper Tyrannis" when he leaped to the stage from the presidential box, breaking his leg, after the slaying.

Said Mr. Ferguson: "I was a call-boy with the company on that night. I was watching the acting from the wings and repeating the lines of each player, for although but fifteen, I had learned nearly every part by heart.

"Suddenly we were all stunned by a shot, then cries and calls; and I saw Booth, the idol of the company, jump from an upper box. His leg had caught in the American flag that drapped the great President's box.

"I could see his face so plainly, a terrible face, drawn with hate, anger, pain and excitement. I could hear the groan he gave when he landed heavily, and saw him falter and stumble when he tried to put his weight upon the broken leg.

"I heard every word Booth said. They were profane words. They were not 'Sic Semper Tyrannis.'

"Afterwards we saw in the papers hat he had made the quotation which has lived ever since. But we were so excited, and there was no one interestd in knowing it wasn't so. Now it has become a part of the history of the shooting.

"Onething that was lucky for me: he wanted me to hold his horse in the alley that night, and I refused. He said he would give me a thrashing. But I wanted to see the acting and wouldn't do it. The boy that did hold his horse got arrested."

ELKS ALL HOME TALENT SHOW

To be Produced by Brainerd Lodge, No. 615 B. P. O. E. at New Park Theatre Feb. 27-28

CLYDE E. PARKER, DIRECTOR

One Hour of Feature Film " 2 Minutes to Go" and One Hour of Vaudeville

Under the energetic direction of Clyde E. Parker, chairman of the house and social committee, Brainerd lodge B. P. O. E. No. 615 is staging a 100 per cent simon pure all home talent show for February 27 and 28 at the New Park theatre.

There will be one hour of a six reel feature film, "Two Minutes to Go" with Charles Ray as the inimitable star. The stage is then set for an hour's vaudeville entertainment.

Brainerd's best entertainers will appear in kaleidoscopic review. There will be no waits between numbers. The vaudeville acts number eight and will be of the highest class.

Four shows will be given, two night, 7 and 9 p. m. A comprehensive ticket sale covering all of 615's large jurisdiction will soon be under full swing.

The Brainerd entertainers will be announced soon. In the meantime each act is rehearsing its stunts and shortly Manager Parker will call for a complete rehearsal at the New theatre.

Col. C.D. Johnson has consented to lecture and on the first night will speak on a subject of interest and the next night will have a complete change of performance by discoursing on another topic.

Con O'Brien has evinced deep interest in the show and as he is a booster for home talent, whether it is Elks' comedians or baseball, the committee is assured he will take a block of 20 tickets.

The Cuyuna range country will be at Brainerd en masse. An orchestra will sit back of stage and discourse its sweetest music.

There is quite a little rivalry over the coming show and the test is whether the all home talent show, Elk from start to finish, can be more successful than a show carrying a paid producer.

Neon's Peculiar Property.

Neon, one of the rarest elements of the air, has the peculiar characteristic of glowing bright red when an electric current passes through it, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This has been utilized in a new spark plug tester, consisting of a hard rubber shell that contains a small glass tube of neon. When the metal cap, sealing the tube, touches a spark plug, the action of the neon quickly shows whether the plug is working or not.

JUDD WRIGHT & SON IN NEW QUARTERS

New Location at 714-716 Laurel St. Gives Them 4,000 Feet of Floor Space

CONVENIENT ARRANGEMENT

Inside Stairway Added to Give Access to Additional Basement Show Room

Judd Wright & Son, the hardware firm, are now located in their new quarters at 714-716 Laurel street and the place has ben arranged to most advantagageously display their large stocks.

The firm, composed of Judd Wright and his son Carl J. Wright, first opened in the Walker block on July 19, 1920. Trade was excellent from the very start and it was soon evident that more space was needed to handle rapidly increasing business. The original store had 1,000 feet of floor space. In the new location the firm has 4,000 feet of floor space, believed to be the largest of any store purely devoted to hardware.

Oak fixtures are in evidence throughout the store. A unique paint section has been built in the alcove, and its design was copied from that of metropolitan stores. Aluminum and enamel ware are displayed on tables instead of shelves. The firm will add many new lines including stoves and ranges.

An inside stairway has been added to give access to the basement show room. A warehouse at the rear with cement floor houses oils, pumps, rough hardware, etc.

A sporting goods section will soon be added. The display of axes is a novel one, the cases having been built around a pillar of the store.

Judd Wright & Son are to be congratulated on the enterprise they have shown, having bought the building in which their store now has its quarters and having effected many permanent improvements to building and interior.

SLED RUNNERS ON FORD

Guy Pratt Evolves a Unique Arrangement for Winter Travel, Successful on Fair Roads

Guy Pratt of Merrifield has evolved a unique arrangement of a Ford touring car for winter travel by taking off the front wheels and replacing them with the front bob of a cutter. The front wheels were then used to make a trailer.

Thus equipped Pratt made many trips between Brainerd and Merrifield hauling goods in car and trailer. With a decent road free from loose, drifting snow Pratt was able to make good time.

TO BRAINERD IN BOX CAR, 40 BELOW

Man and Woman Beating Way From Minneapolis to Brainerd, Land Here Almost Frozen

ROUND HOUSE MEN HELP THEM

Raised $21, One of Them Offered a Room to Them and All Assisted Them on to Border Town

To survive 40 below zero weather while riding in a box car from Minneapolis to Brainerd was the experience of a man and his wife, "beating" their way that distance and intent on reaching International Falls where the man had been promised work by a brother. Their intention was to "beat" their way the whole distance, but they were glad to leave the box car at Brainerd and run to the round house in the yards where they warmed up.

Their pitiful story enlisted the aid of round house and other railway men, one of whom offered them shelter at his home for the night, and $21 cash was raised to buy them tickets from Brainerd on to International Falls.

It was a wonder that they survived the exposure as they were not dressed for such wintry weather.
